Many South Africans whose ancestors lived at the Cape in 1650-1750's are part of one big extended family. The custom of referring to seniors as "oom" or "tannie" is not only done out of respect but it also reflects the reality of the close familial bond and the small collective genetic pool.

Cape South African Stamouers / Progenitors / Forebearer came from Africa, Europe, Asia and other places. Some were VOC workers, free settlers, Huguenot, Slaves and Indigenous.
